Marie Spörk

marie.spoerk@econ.lmu.de

PROFILE

Motivated and multilingual economics student with strong analytical skills and experience in international and interdisciplinary teamwork. Passionate about economic research, innovation, and addressing complex global challenges.

EDUCATION

University of Munich (LMU) Munich, Germany
PhD Student Economics October 2026 – Present

London School of Economics London, UK
MSc Economics September 2025 – June 2026
Econometrics, Quantitative Economics
Research Interests: Innovation and Technology, Industrial Transformation
Master's Thesis: "How far does knowledge travel? Innovation spillovers from Fraunhofer Institutes" (Distinction)

Ludwig-Maximilian University Munich, Germany
BSc Economics October 2021 – February 2025
Classification: 1.2 (German scale, 1.0 = best), Top 3%; Economists Alumni Club Prize for Young Economists
Munich Honors – Program in Economics
Relevant Coursework: Applied Econometrics, Monetary Policy; Bachelor Thesis on "US Monetary Policy and Macroeconomic Fluctuations in Emerging Markets" under supervision of Prof. Mirko Wiederholt, PhD

Singapore Management University Singapore, Singapore
Exchange Program in Economics August 2023 – December 2023
Relevant Coursework: International Economics, Real Estate Economics, Macroeconomics of Income Distribution

Secondary School – Edith-Stein Gymnasium Munich, Germany
1.0 GPA Top of the class; VfS and Joachim Herz Foundation A-level Prize for Economics 2013 - 2021

WORK EXPERIENCE

Siemens AG – AI LAB Munich, Germany
Working Student December 2024 – August 2025

- Developed an AI Use Case repertoire to support strategic positioning and stakeholder engagement
- Co-created pitch decks and battle cards for Siemens' Industrial Foundation Models vision
- Contributed to content design and logistics for the AI with Purpose Summit with 700+ international participants including C-level guests
- Designed and facilitated AI education formats (e.g., Girls' Day) to promote STEM and AI literacy
- Coordinated production of the Human & AI podcast, enhancing Siemens' thought leadership in responsible industrial AI

Ludwig-Maximilian University – Institute for the Economics of Innovation Munich, Germany
Research Assistant to Prof. Fabian Waldinger, PhD (~8h/week) March 2023 – August 2025

- Performed descriptive and inductive data analyses using R, Stata, and Python to support empirical research on a regular basis
- Continuously collected, constructed, and verified research datasets, maintaining rigorous data quality standards, enabling effective use
- Regularly compiled and reviewed relevant literature to inform theoretical frameworks and empirical approaches
- Managed project coordination by aligning timelines, standardising language and documentation, and maintaining consistent research structure to ensure efficient research progress
- Facilitated team collaboration with support in onboarding, continuous training, and progress discussions

Marie Spörk

marie.spoerk@econ.lmu.de

Ludwig-Maximilian University – Seminar for Comparative Economic Research Munich, Germany
Student Tutor (Teaching Assistant) for Microeconomics I to Prof. Dr. Monika Schnitzer October 2022 – February 2023

- Prepared and delivered weekly microeconomics tutorials, fostering student engagement and comprehension
- Provided individualized academic support and guidance on economic concepts and problem-solving
- Tailored sessions to student needs and capacities via regular feedback surveys
- Developed and enhanced digital teaching materials to improve learning outcomes and course delivery
- Received public speaking and presentation training to strengthen effective communication in an academic teaching environment

VOLUNTARY EXPERIENCE

Ludwig-Maximilian University Munich, Germany
Tutor for Study Counselling April 2023 – August 2023

Munich Helps Ukraine e.V. Munich, Germany
Volunteer March 2022 – August 2025

Independent Munich, Germany
Tutor for School Students April 2017 – August 2023

SKILLS / AWARDS AND ACHIEVEMENTS

Technical: Microsoft Office, Tableau, LaTeX, R – excellent; Stata, Python- advanced
Languages: German – mother tongue; English – fluent; French – advanced; Mandarin – elementary; Spanish – beginner
Awards: DAAD Graduate Degree Scholarship; German Academic Scholarship Foundation; Max-Weber Program Scholarship